Record Crowds Continue At Ohio State Fair

Fifty Year Group Has Inning at Tuesday Exhibition

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30—(AP)—Ohio State Fair officials were braced today for a new avalanche of visitors as they heard the weather forecast for the day: Fair with temperatures in the low 80's.

In preparation for the huge attendance expected in the next three days, arrangements were made for Columbus' trolley coaches to step up service to the fairgrounds to six-minute intervals. Latest available figures showed 31,000 visiting the grounds by 5 P. M. yesterday. But a huge night crowd assured that last year's mark of 33,466 for Monday was far eclipsed.

Today has been designated county commissioners' and trustees' day. It will mark the beginning of the peak attendance period of the 95th exposition.

Headlining special groups at the fair today will be the fifty year club, composed of fair-goers who have attended 50 or more Ohio State Fairs. L. B. Palmer of Columbus is president of the group and Mrs. May E. Stites of South Vienna, is secretary.

During yesterday's events, 3,500 harness racing spectators in the grandstand witnessed the presentation to Ohio of a farm safety plaque. It was presented by Ned Dearborn, of Chicago, president of the national safety council, in recognition of the outstanding work of the Ohio Farm Safety Committee in reducing farm deaths from accidents.

D. Robert Jones, assistant fair manager in charge of the junior division, said yesterday the junior fair is 20 per cent larger than last year's. Total entries are 5,201 from 4-H clubs, FFA, future homemakers of America, boy and girl scouts, camp fire girls, industrial arts, city school gardens, and farmers' institute.

Weather Outlook For Next Five Days

(By the Associated Press)
Temperatures will average 3-5 degrees above normal. Normal maximum 77, normal minimum 57 cooler Wednesday and continued rather cool thereafter till becoming warmer about Sunday. Precipitation will average 1/4 to 1/2 inches.

Truck Lines Sued

TOLEDO, Aug. 30—(AP)—Howard W. Chapman of Newark, sued the Norwalk Truck Lines, Inc., of Norwalk, O., for $20,000 yesterday in common pleas court. He contended he was injured in 1947 in a collision near Toledo between his truck-trailer and a truck-trailer owned by the Norwalk firm.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

For 53 years Oscar Glass, residing on the Jeffersonville and Jamestown Road just east of the Fayette-Greene county line, has been growing watermelons, but never before has he had as many on a given acreage, or melons as large as those this year, and they are now in their prime.

I have told you something about Oscar and his melons before, but this year he has four acres of melons that are literally crowding the fences, so to speak.

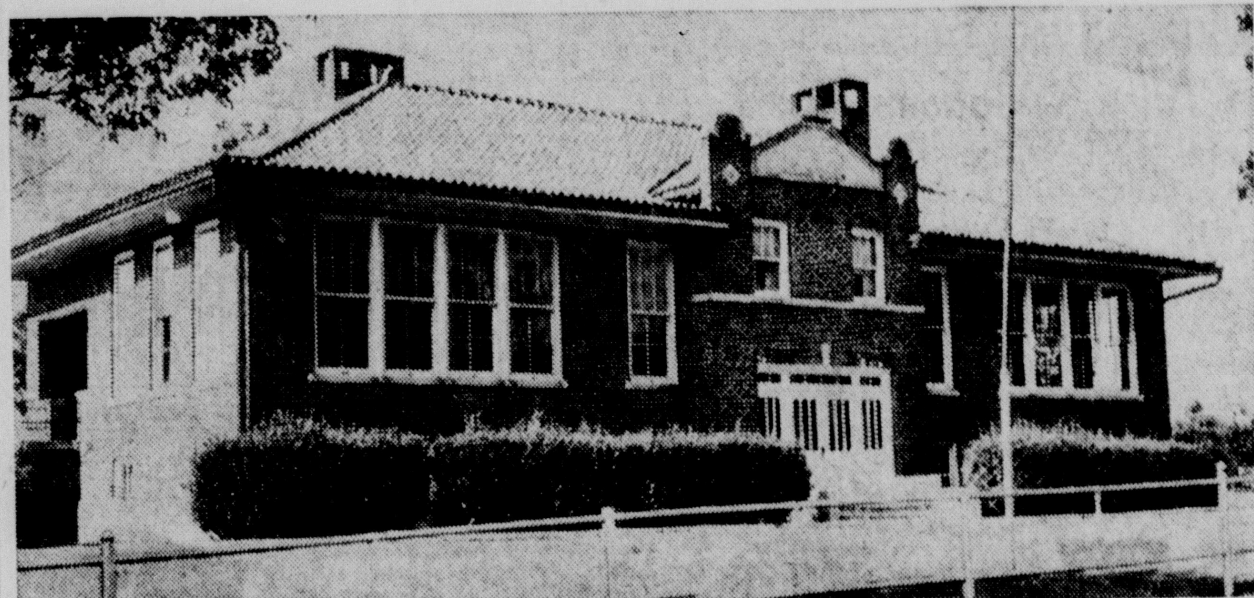

The veteran melon grower, speaking of his present crop, said: "I have four acres in melons, and before I started picking them, I could have walked over the patch, stepping from one melon to another without touching the ground," and that is some melon patch.

Oscar sent me one the "medium sized" ones. It is a Klondike and tipped the scales within a few ounces of 40 pounds.

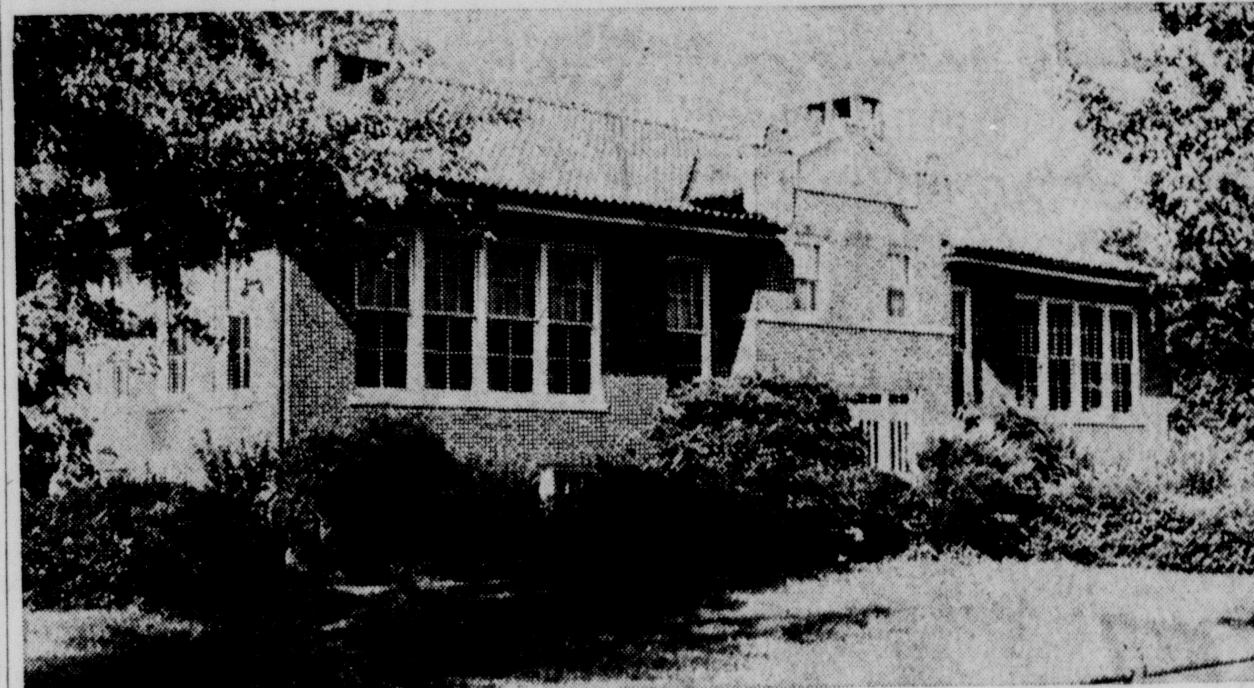

However the largest melon he produced this year weighed 52 pounds, and he has some more developing that are nearly as large.

I have not seen his patch yet, but I'm going to make a resolution right now to visit the patch—and I am going during daylight, too!

Court Upholds Concord Board of Education's Consolidation Plan

STAUNTON SCHOOL, to accommodate pupils in Concord Township, glistens in the afternoon sun. A caretaker recently mowed the lawn and trimmed its hedges.

The school consolidation controversy in Concord Local School District was ended Monday afternoon by a common pleas court decision here, upholding the school board's consolidation plan.

Following an all day hearing before an audience which packed the court room and in which testimony was taken from a score of witnesses, Judge H. M. Rankin held that the Concord Board of Education was within its rights in planning for the consolidation.

The board's action in passing a resolution authorizing combining the Conner and Staunton schools at Staunton into one six grade institution, was attacked by opponents of this move on the grounds that the board has abused its discretion in this decision. Judge Rankin decided that the board was within its rights, had acted in good faith and that there was no evidence presented to show abuse of its discretionary powers.

Under the plans of the Concord board for a one year period, pupils of the school district from first to sixth grades were to be sent to the Staunton School while seventh and eighth grade pupils were to go to Sabina and Washington C. H. schools.

The Washington C. H. Board of Education recently indicated that it may not have sufficient space to accommodate additional seventh and eighth grade students but the Concord board is still hoping that room may be found for a few such students here from that district, especially since most of the Concord district's high school students come to Washington H. If seventh and eighth graders from the Concord district are not provided for here, probably room may be found for all of them in the Sabina schools.

The only chance of any change in plans, following the court decision here Monday, lies in the possibility of the case being carried to the Court of Appeals in this district and a reversal of the common pleas court's finding. Attorney Winston Hill, who represented the opponents of the consolidation plan, stated late Monday that it was not known whether the case would be carried higher. The fact that school will open next week, however, the day after Labor Day, caused many interested in the outcome of the case here to express the belief that the case would not be carried up.

According to the petition filed in common pleas court, the action was brought against the Concord Local School District Board of Education by the following: Stacey Anders, Charles Rolfe, Charles Ellis, Willie Anders, Harry Beverly, Herbert Pollard, Raymond Moorman, Orville Waddell Clarice Anders and Joe Palmer.

Hill Cites "Real Issue"

In presenting his argument to the court Attorney Hill for the plaintiff declared that the Concord board's position was unfair to the school children of that district, that the closing of the Conner School would deprive that community of a meeting place for organizations such as the PTA and other organizations interested in school and other public matters and that the move actually would raise rather than decrease the school district's expenses.

He intimated that the real issue behind the action was an effort to avoid a continuation of the district's three mill special school levy (outside the 10 mill limitation) which has another year to run, the objective being to have other school districts such as Washington C. H. and Sabina, provide the school room facilities for the Concord district's students.

Giant Weapon Against Cancer

22,000,000 Volts Used In Treatment

CHICAGO, Aug. 30—(AP)—A powerful new weapon against cancer went into action Monday. It is a 22,000,000-volt betatron, giant super X-ray machine situated in a large special basement at the University of Illinois research hospital.

The first patient to receive treatment was Fordyce M. Hotchkiss, 72, of Chicago, a retired Railway Express employee, who has a cancer of the larynx.

Newsmen watched through a peephole in the thick wall as Hotchkiss was placed in position and the betatron took up its penetrating hum. After his treatment, Hotchkiss said, "I didn't feel it a bit."

Dr. Roger A. Harvey of the University's radiology department, said that although the betatron can deliver up to 11 times more energy than an X-ray equipment now in use for medical treatment, it poses no new or unusual dangers to the patient.

The advantage of the betatron, he said, include its ability to project its maximum effect one and a half inches below the body surface. When the electron ray has penetrated eight inches of flesh, its energy effect is still half the maximum.

The ray is so controlled that surface damage is less at the points where the beam enters and leaves the patient's body than is the case with many of the lower power X-ray machines, Dr. Harvey said.

Other advantages, he said are easy, precise control of energy output and a very narrow, sharply-defined beam.

above the sixth grade, thus avoiding the extra school expense to the taxpayers of that district. The tuition for pupils sent outside the district is paid from the district's share in the state's school foundation fund. "Those backing this move," declared Hill, "are seeking to avoid their real community responsibility."

Defense Claims Saving

Prosecuting Attorney Clark Wickensimer, representing the Concord Local School District Board of Education, in his summing up to the court, insisted that there would be a definite financial saving to the boards' school funds and that the law on the case from other court decisions was clear as to the right of the board to take such action. He quoted one decision as follows:

"It is very clear that so far as the control and management of the school interests—the selection of site, and erection and equipment of buildings, are committed to the judgment and discretion of the board of education; that a court cannot interfere with the exercise of such judgment and discretion, except where it is abused or overreached, or where the conduct or fraud of the board proceeds from fraudulent motives, or improper purposes, which would be the same thing in law as a gross abuse of discretion."

Atty. Wickensimer also contended that the consolidation would mean more efficiency and less cost, by reason of needing only three teachers at Staunton who would teach two grades each, whereas before, a total of four teachers in the district operating (Please turn to Page Two)

Fight Will Be Carried Into 1950 Campaign

Proposed Billions Cut in Truman's Bill Fails

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—A Senate economy drive which had built up steam for months appeared bogged down at last today following final Senate action—long overdue—on billions of dollars in appropriations.

In the final voting yesterday on a $14,800,000,000 defense money bill, economy advocates actually showed a good-sized majority.

Pushing an amendment which would have required President Truman to cut government expenses five to 10 percent, they summoned a total of 49 votes against only 28 for the opposition.

But that was not enough. It fell three votes short of the two-thirds margin which Vice President Barkley, the Senate's presiding officer, had ruled necessary.

That appeared to put the whole economy question over until the 1950 congressional campaigns, in which it is expected to be a major issue.

The proposed rider would have required Mr. Truman to chop from two to four and a half billion dollars from the estimated $45,000,000,000 he asked Congress to authorize for government spending this fiscal year, which started July 1.

Its defeat marked a hard-won victory for Democratic Leader Lucas who must run for reelection next year in Illinois.

It was a major setback for two southern Democrats, Senators McClellan of Arkansas and Byrd of Virginia, and two top Republican leaders, Senators Wherry of Nebraska and Taft of Ohio.

With the economy amendment out of the way the Senate quickly defeated an anti-oleomargarine rider sponsored by Senators Wiley (R-Wis) and a last minute send-it-back-to-committee economy move by Senator Douglas (D-Ill).

Then it sent the huge defense appropriation bill back to the House for action on Senate changes slashing nearly $1,400,000,000 from the House-approved total.

House leaders have served notice they will resist most of the Senate reductions, although the House is now on vacation and won't be able to consider the bill until Sept. 24.

The biggest Senate cut was an $800,000,000 slice in air force funds. The House allowed enough cash to expand the air arm to 58 combat groups but the Senate whittled this back to 48 groups as recommended by the president.

More Gasoline Funds

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30—(AP)—Distribution of $2,118,000 from gasoline tax funds to townships and counties for road purposes was announced yesterday by State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson. Counties will each receive $18,000 and townships $490.

Body Found in River

CINCINNATI, Aug. 30—(AP)—The body of Thomas Scalla, 43, of Cincinnati was found yesterday in the Ohio River. Coroner Herbert P. Lyle said Scalla apparently was a drowning victim.

DURING A THREE HOUR riot, which broke up a scheduled recital by singer Paul Robeson, crowds gather on a highway (top) outside a Peekskill, N. Y., picnic ground and surround cars. The trouble followed a picket parade of young veterans protesting against Robeson's appearance. State troopers were called out when vets clashed with audience members. One vet (bottom), stabbed during melee, awaits treatment. (International)

New Turnpike Law In Effect On Wednesday

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30—(AP)—A new law creating an Ohio turnpike commission that may construct with private capital toll roads in the state similar to the famed Pennsylvania turnpike becomes effective tomorrow.

Enacted earlier this year by the legislature, the law gives Gov. Frank J. Lausche authority to appoint four members of a five-member commission to construct and maintain the turnpikes.

The fifth member will be the state highway director.

The commission has authority to issue revenue bonds to finance the superhighways and costs of the commission's operation. Under the law, the bonds will not be considered a debt against the state. They are payable solely from revenues derived from tolls charged on the highways.

The four commission members to be appointed by the governor must include two Democrats and two Republicans. Each member—except the state highway director—will receive $5,000 a year plus expenses. Each will have a bond of $25,000.

The first appointments will be for staggered terms—two, four, six and eight years. Thereafter, terms will be for eight years. The Senate must confirm the governor's appointees.

The commission is authorized to hire a secretary-treasurer who will be bonded for $50,000, but the law sets no limit on his salary.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—Allan Davis, 82, a native of Milner, O., and a former educator, died last night at the summer home of his daughter, Miss Evelyn Davis, at nearby Herndon, Va.

Dentists Attend College by Phone

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
CHICAGO, Aug. 30—(AP)—Will the college campus of the future be a telephone booth?

This fall the University of Illinois college of Dentistry in Chicago will provide postgraduate courses for some 7,000 dentists who won't be in Chicago. They will be in 135 other cities getting their instructions by telephone.

The idea started in 1947 when Dr. Saul Levy, a Scranton, Pa., dentist called Dr. Robert G. Kesel at the University Dental School here. Dr. Levy said he wanted to attend the postgraduate course on control of tooth decay but couldn't spare the time to travel to Chicago.

"Why, he asked, 'Can't I hear the lectures by telephone?'"

The result: Dr. Levy and 19 other Scranton dentists met in the Chamber of Commerce building on class nights, got out lantern slides and charts that had come in the mail, hooked an amplifier to the telephone, and listened. They didn't miss a word.

Word of the innovation got around in the profession. Other dentists in towns outside the big dental school centers became interested. Classes-by-wire were brought to dentists in Scranton and New Iberia, La., in the spring of 1948. There was a six-city hook-up in Illinois last fall.

But that was only a starter—and a small one, at that. The university, starting Oct. 10, will put on a postgraduate educational series that will reach 135 cities in 38 states and two in Canada over telephone lines.

There will be one session a month for six months. Each will start at 8:30 P. M. Eastern Standard time and will last two hours. They will originate at the University of Illinois Chicago Campus.

There will be a different subject each month but the general theme is "Current Advances in Dentistry." The object is to bring dentists up to date on the latest developments in their field.

Six speakers will be heard on each program. They are research men, teachers, practicing dentists and specialists from a score of cities and universities. Each will speak six or seven minutes. A round-table discussion will follow.

Dr. Isaac Schour, director of postgraduate studies at the University of Illinois dental school, figures 7,000 dentists will be on the listening end. Each pays $10 for the full series. They will gather about loud speakers in Dental Society quarters or meeting rooms in their home towns.

"This is mass professional education by an all-star faculty," Dr. Schour said. "It will be on a national basis. If and when the mechanics are worked out, it may become international."

"Most dentists can't come to a university, so now the university comes to the dentist."

"Every professional—medicine, engineering and the others—has This may be the answer."

Vaughan Makes General Denial Of Accusations

"Nothing to Conceal In My Record" Says Accused General

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—Major Gen. Harry H. Vaughan acknowledged today that he collected campaign money in 1946 from some of the business men he helped in dealings with the government.

He said he got $2,000 or $3,000 from race track owner William Helis, who sought Vaughan's aid in 1948 in getting a permit for scarce building materials for the Tanforan (Calif.).

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—Major General Harry H. Vaughan said today that he has never authorized John Maragon to "represent or speak for me, or the White House."

The president's military aide also told the Senate five percent inquiry "there is nothing to conceal in my record as a public servant."

"I have discharged my duties honestly and to the best of my ability," he said.

Vaughan went before the Senate investigations subcommittee with a long prepared statement in which he made these disavowals of any improper conduct.

The committee had heard testimony that Maragon, a man-about-Washington who calls Vaughan his good friend, has represented to government agencies from time to time that he spoke for Vaughan.

The senators were told last week that as recently as last June some army officers were under the impression that Maragon was a liaison man between the Pentagon and the White House.

Vaughan, in his statement, made these main points:

He has known Maragon since 1941, but "I have had no business connections with Maragon."

Vaughan described as "an out-and-out fantasy" testimony by Herbert C. Hathorn that Vaughan had suggested that "I would 'get his job' if he refused to grant a request."

Vaughan declared that "at no time did I attempt to influence the decision" of government housing officials on letting the Tanforan Race Track in California get scarce building materials.

Vaughan said the seven deep freezes he received and distributed to Mrs. Truman and others were "a gift from two old friends of mine."

"This gift was an expression of friendship and nothing more," Vaughan said. "There is absolutely no connection between this gift and any assistance I have given these friends. At no time have I taken action as a member of the White House staff in exchange for a gift or other favor."

Marshal Tito May Get Loan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia is considered virtually a cinch to get an American government loan—provided he stays alive and independent from Moscow.

Top government officials said Secretary of State Acheson's strong support for Yugoslavia's application clearly foreshadows a favorable verdict.

Acheson and Ambassador Cavendish Cannon in Belgrade are reported vigorously urging the export-import bank not only to approve Tito's bid but to do it quickly.

The Yugoslav dictator is said to be in need of quick economic help from the United States and other western countries to help him weather the economic blockade now threatening to strangle his country.

The Yugoslav government was disclosed last night to have applied formally to the bank for a credit of around $25,000,000 needed to buy American machinery for its copper, lead and zinc mines.

Man Fatally Injured

Jewel Robbers Under Arrest

Smooth Crime Ends At Cleveland

AKRON, Aug. 30—(AP)—Two men were held by police today for questioning in a smoothly-functioning $25,000 jewel robbery.

Arrested at Cleveland airport yesterday, the pair first said they were Sid Walker, 49, a New York commission broker, and Albert Warner, 49, and Omaha salesman.

Later, they gave other names and Chicago addresses which police did not disclose pending a check.

With them Detective Capt. John F. Struzenski reported, was a briefcase containing 560 diamond rings that had been stolen two hours earlier.

The jewelry belonged to Dave Moss, a veteran salesman for the Joseph Berland Co. of New York. Capt. Struzenski gave this description of the robbery:

Moss, after showing his wares in a jewelry store here, asked the store owner to watch the merchandise while he went to a drugstore for a soft drink.

A few minutes later, a man telephoned the store owner, identified himself as Moss and said he was sending a bellhop over for the jewelry. The bellhop, Rudy Travis, picked up the briefcase containing the rings and turned it over to a "ruddy complexioned man."

Moss returned to the store shortly afterward, but the jewelry was gone.

Capt. Struzenski said the bellhop had been cleared of any connection with the crime and had identified one of the pair as the man who had hired him to pick up the briefcase.

A United Airlines ticket seller, Mrs. Genevieve Zereaniak, called police after she became suspicious when the pair bought their tickets. Police picked them up when the plane landed in Cleveland.

Legionnaires In 12-Hour Parade

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30—(AP)—A gay task force of gaudily-dressed American Legionnaires began a 12-hour parade maneuver today to capture Philadelphia.

Drums rolled, bugles blared. Strutting girls in pretty costumes twirled batons. Martial tunes filled the air. So did confetti and ticker tape—and the cheering applause of a million Philadelphians and visitors.

The Quaker City surrendered happily to the invasion—the Legion's 31st annual convention parade.

Hours before the march began crowds gathered along the five-mile route. The sun shone brightly in the cloudless sky.

U. S. military and naval units led off the march directly behind the Legion's parade marshals. The crack 116-man army band moved like a precision machine up Broad Street to City Hall and the reviewing stand.

Fayette County 4-H Members At State Fair

To Compete This Week Against Top Entries From All Over Ohio

Boys and girls of Fayette County 4-H clubs are in the spotlight at the State Fair this week.

A team demonstration on the handling of sheep was to be given Tuesday by Jerry Cory, Dean Cory and Max Bloomer.

Carl Creamer gave an individual demonstration on blocking a lamb.

The 4-H livestock exhibits at the fair also includes the Ayrshire cattle and Poland China hogs of Charles Day.

Entered in the Hereford division are Johnny Melvin, Esther Marting and Irel Knedler, Jr., while Betty and Joan Weidinger have Jersey entries. Max Bloomer has entries in the sheep exhibit.

Temple's demonstration on "Baking an Apple Pie," by Joan Cockerill and Barbara Barger of the Busy Bee Homemakers Club.

A few lessons on freezing foods in the home freezer were also offered by Janet Parrett of the same club.

These girls won the demonstration contest at the Fayette County Fair and were competing against state-wide entries.

Mrs. Ralph Barger and Mrs. Robert Bachelor are advisors for the Busy Bees.

4-H Girls in Style Revue

The Ohio 4-H Style Revue in the bandshell at the state fairgrounds Tuesday had the Fayette County winners among the participants.

Mary Margaret Tway, daughter of the Stephen Tways, showed a blue navy taffeta dress-up dress. She belongs to the Wayne Wonder Workers 4-H Club, advised by Mrs. Lawrence Hoppes and Mrs. Wilbur Hoppes.

A blue plaid school dress was shown by Barbara McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt McDonald and member of the Staunton Whippersnappers club. Mrs. Orville Bush is club advisor.

Jean Scholl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Scholl, showed a brown and tan tweed outfit she made as a member of the Stitches Mademoiselles club, advised by Ruth Engle and Connie Pyle. Filling out a full program was the interviewing of the winners of the Fayette County 4-H Health Contest at the state fair 4-H headquarters.

The girls were represented by Norma Jean Dorn, daughter of Leland Dorn of Madison Mills. She is a member of the Sewin' and Doughin' Gals, advised by Miss Barbara Clark.

The boys' entry in the State Health contest is Carl Creamer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ancil Creamer and member of the Ambitious Farmers of 1949. Joseph E. Fisher is club advisor.

More Demonstrations Wednesday "Transforming" is the title of the demonstration that will be given on Wednesday by members of the 4-H Brush-Up Club of Washington C. H.

Paddy Boso, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boso, Sally Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Lewis, Mary Lou Biehn, daughter of Mrs. Blanche Biehn and Marilyn Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cunningham, will perform for on-lookers.

Ruth Agle, "most outstanding Fayette County 4-H Club Girl of 1949," has her two-piece light blue woolen outfit on exhibit at the state fair. Ruth, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Agle, is a member of the Jeffersonville Happy Clothiers.

Joan Cockerill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Cockerill, is exhibiting her lavender taffeta dress-up dress.

Fayette County is one of only 20 counties in Ohio that sport educational exhibits at the fair.

The theme of the exhibit centers around the "well-dressed 4-H club girl."

Its objective is to show girls how to select and make a basic dress and adapt it to various occasions by changing the accessories.

The dress used as a model for a good basic dress was made by Ethel Bower of the Stitches Mademoiselles 4-H club. It can be turned into a school dress, sports outfit or dress-up dress by the accessories contributed by other 4-H girls.

The Junior Leadership Club planned and constructed the exhibit, which is in charge of Jane Huff and Donna Cyrus.

(Continued from Page One) in the two schools were each required to teach four grades. In addition, he claimed that other expenses would be lessened by operating one school.

Judge Rankin's Decision In deciding to dissolve the temporary injunction against the Concord board and dismiss the petition to make the injunction permanent, Judge Rankin stated that while he, as an individual, probably like a number of other individuals, might not be in sympathy with the entire action of the board, nevertheless the board so far as evidence in the case showed, had done what it thought was right and its plans were within proper legal limits without any abuse of its discretion or showing any bad faith or fraud.

He said that he hoped that all concerned with this legal action would leave the court room as "friendly litigants" and that he was pleased to note that while there was much interest in the case there was no indication of feeling running high as had been true in some other sections of the state and country when school matters of this character got into court.

He asserted that the board was elected as representatives of the people and acted upon the problems presented to it. If people disagree, he said, they have recourse through the ballot box.

He then digressed briefly from the immediate aspects of the case to state that it was his belief that too much money was being spent generally for education without the people getting their money's worth; that this was one of the things causing us to drift away from successful democratic methods of government and from home rule; that most people were

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—This is a brief explanation of what has happened and why in the five-percenter case.

That case reaches a peak tomorrow when Major General Harry H. Vaughan, military aide to President Truman, testifies at a public senate committee hearing. The committee has been investigating five-percenters for two months. It's been holding public hearings three weeks. Vaughan's name has run through the case from the beginning.

Witnesses at the hearings have said he used his White House position to get special favors for firms and individuals in dealing with the government.

No one has accused him of breaking any law or receiving any fee for anything he did. He has been pictured so far as a "Mr. Fixit."

Nor has anyone suggested that President Truman knew anything about Vaughan's activities in behalf of friends or firms.

This is how the story came about.

Big corporations have large Washington staffs to keep them informed of dealings with the government, particularly about getting government contracts.

Small businessmen can't afford such staffs. Because of the great complexity of government they have difficulty in knowing whom to see or what to do when they want contracts.

So many of them have to depend on men who know their way around Washington and, for a fee, such as a five-percent, guide them in getting contracts.

But—there's a difference between five-percenters who act as guides and cleaners-of-red-tape and those who charge, such a fee on the grounds that they can help a businessman get a contract through "influence."

The senate investigation is aimed—according to Senator Hoey, North Carolina Democrat and chairman of the investigating committee—at the five-percent "influence peddlers."

On June 21 the New York Herald-Tribune published a story given it by Paul Grindle, former Herald-Tribune reporter but now head of a furniture manufacturing company in Framingham, Mass.

He said he met James V. Hunt, former army officer and former government employee, who calls himself a "management counselor." Grindle says Hunt told him he has "only one thing to sell and that is influence." (Hunt denies he said it.)

Grindle said he signed a contract with Hunt, agreeing to give Hunt a fee for helping him get government contracts. With the publication of that story, the senate investigating began.

Hunt himself hasn't testified at any public hearing. His doctors have said he's too ill to do that for at least another month. But there's been a stream of other witnesses: businessmen, government officials, and army officers.

What they had to say revolved around Hunt or Vaughan. Here are just three items from testimony of witnesses about Vaughan:

1. That Vaughan asked housing expediter Tighe Woods to hurry up a permit for building materials for the Tanforan racetrack in California when building materials were scarce and veterans needed homes. The track got the materials.
2. That Vaughan tried to pressure an agriculture department employee into letting a molasses company have more sugar than it was entitled to under a government ruling.
3. That Vaughan and a number of other people high in the government got deep-freezers for free through a perfume company which paid the bill for them.

This perfume company was a client of one of the strangest figures in the case, John Maragon, a native of Greece and a former Kansas city bootblack who had a White House pass.

One document in the case was a note from Vaughan to the staff department to get clearance for Maragon for a trip to Italy.

Called to testify, Maragon said he knew Vaughan but refused to answer almost every other question on the grounds that to answer might incriminate him.

Charged with Arson

BARBERTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—Fred Edgar, 24, a former employee, was charged with arson in the $1,000,000 blaze which destroyed the American Vitro Products Co. plant here last June 29.

Liberal Gifts To Salvation Army Reported

Three Truck Loads Of Goods Donated In This County

The generosity of Washington C. H. and Fayette County was again proven as the Salvation Army truck came again and again from Columbus to gather contributions of clothing and furniture.

William J. Hilty, chairman of the Fayette County unit, said that the truck came Thursday, Friday and Saturday to cover all of the 125 calls he received at his office.

When the truck first arrived, Hilty turned over the long list of addresses of people who were offering goods that could be better used by someone else.

The clothing and household goods collected by the Salvation Army is put to worthy use.

The Salvation Army in Columbus renovates the furniture and mends the clothing for distribution to the needy.

Then, when a family is burned out of their home or when some other tragedy deprives them of their belongings, the Salvation Army steps in immediately with shoes, clothing and furniture, according to their need.

Hilty said that the truck will come here the last Thursday of each month, stopping at his office in case anyone has notified him they have something to give.

Baptists Here Attend Assembly

A week of music, art and drama at the Northern Baptist Assembly ended for six members of the First Baptist Church when they returned here Sunday.

Attending the assembly at Green Lake, Wisconsin, were Miss Marjorie Peterson, Miss Clara-belle Robinson, Miss Connie Pyle, Mrs. Thomas Cullen, Mrs. Carl Preston and Mrs. W. L. Peterson.

Concerts were given nightly, with noted artists performing. Religious dramas were also presented at the assembly, held on the 1,100-acre which once comprised a $10,000,000 private estate.

On the way home, the members

Do Fact-Finding Boards Get The Facts?

Listening to a group of Washington C. H. businessmen the other day, the question heard being discussed was the effect of large strikes on business and particularly whether government fact-finding boards in labor disputes really find the facts.

This has been a question that has disturbed those directly in controversy in a considerable proportion of the disputes in which such boards have functioned.

Right now the steel dispute which may have a vital effect on this nation's economic situation, is an extreme example. The steel industry management, from the beginning, was opposed to President Truman's scheme for his fact-finding board named in such a way as to by-pass the Taft-Hartley law.

This action by the head of the nation, failing to recognize the law of the land because his political friends did not like the law, has caused not only the steel industry management, but most of the public, to be skeptical of the impartiality of the board since it was named. Everybody, is hoping, however, that some decision will be reached which will avoid a strike and at the same time be of such a nature as not to cause another inflationary spiral.

In the past there have been times when both management and labor have been dissatisfied with the thoroughness of investigation and the quality of judgment exercised by some of the boards appointed. The feeling seemed to be that decisions usually were politically inclined, rather than being based on the merits of the cases as found in facts thoroughly established.

Criticism of the fact-finding board system probably stems fundamentally from resentment of settlement terms imposed by an outsider. It is that resentment which was expressed by Ben Moreell, president of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company, when he called the institution of fact-finding boards a step toward government control of the economy. He points out truly that if the findings of such boards are to have real value sooner or later the necessity of enforcing them will arise.

These criticisms and fears do not necessarily argue that the fact-finding system of arbitration is faulty in itself. It may only need different sponsorship. The whole thing might appear in a new light if it could be placed under some authority which would be trusted completely by both management and labor, which would be free from taint of political or other special interest or the possibility of corruption. Is there such an authority in the land?

Saving Windows

Window breakage is a problem for most schools and other public and private buildings located where children habitually play in large groups. Chicago offers no exception; there broken windows in the public school buildings have been counted in the thousands each month.

After years of preaching on the subject, school administrators got pupils interested in taking over the job of conservation. They devised their own protective organization and methods. They eliminated ball-playing within range of unprotected windows and cleared school grounds of loose stones which might prove tempting.

Over a five-month period taken for comparison, breakage was reduced by twenty per cent. Sometimes it takes fire to fight fire, and it takes an active boy to stop another active boy from breaking a window.

Archaeologists digging under the British city of Canterbury have found remains of an old Roman heating plant. Travellers who have suffered in Britain's cold buildings will hope that this new find may impress the British.

Going Strong At 97 Years of Age

By Ed Creach
(Substituting for Boyle)

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—(AP)—“Simply because I am 97,” said Mrs. Suzanne Faulkner, “you needn't think I am going to stop enjoying myself, because I'm not.”

“I danced the Samba on my last birthday—”

“Oh, ma, you didn't,” bubbled daughter Betty, a blonde and boisterous 73.

“I certainly did!” Mrs. Faulkner's grey eyes crackled and her jaw, remarkably free of wrinkles, shifted into danger position.

“Well, you went through the motions,” Betty admitted. “You got out out on the dance floor at the Stork Club and you raised your arms and wiggled your hips.”

Of course, said her mother, with dignity. “It was a wonderful party. I didn't get home until four in the morning. WHAT TIME DID YOU GET HOME—”

“You ought to know, ma,” Betty giggled. “You were sitting right there waiting for me.”

It sounded like a typical afternoon in the Park Avenue apartment which Betty, known more formally as Mrs. Frank C. Henderson, society cut-up, shares with her mother.

Both are widows. Their late husbands had money.

The apartment is dark, tapestry-infested and—a week after the birthday blowout—still cluttered with anniversary flowers.

I called in the hope of finding out how one goes about living 97 years without missing too much.

“I simply followed my doctor's orders,” said Mrs. Faulkner, whose hair is as brown as an autumn leaf. “Old Dr. Swan of Boston, it was. He told me to take plenty of good, nourishing food—”

“Buttermilk before breakfast BRRR!” Betty wriggled and made a Mickey Rooney face.

“You be quiet,” her mother said. “I also have to take a few ounces of spirits every day. Between meals. Something I never did when I was younger. Never smoked, either.”

“What a way to live!” Betty murmured.

“I'm getting old,” Mrs. Faulkner said. “Can't walk more than a mile a day any more. Haven't had serious proposal of marriage in almost 10 years.”

Betty burst out laughing. “Tell him about that, ma. Tell him about Col. . . .”

“He did me the honor of asking me to be his wife,” the old woman said, her eyes lighting up again.

“But he was in a rather festive mood that night and I didn't hold him to it.”

“When we met the next day I simply said, ‘and how are you this morning, Col. . . .’”

“You can't imagine how relieved he looked.”

“Mrs. Faulkner,” he said, ‘you are a very sensible woman’.”

I wanted to ask daughter Betty about that celebrated picture which was taken of her at the opera, with her leg on the table and her skirt hiked ‘way up to here.

Fortunately, she volunteered the information.

“Outrageous,” she said. “I had burritis in my knee and I merely put my leg on the table to ease the pain.”

“Some young photographers who didn't know me took my picture in that ridiculous position.”

“Oh, brother! That picture has been in every paper in the world. Especially the Communist papers. They tried to make me a symbol of capitalist decay or some damn thing.”

“What, dear?” asked her mother, who is a little hard of hearing.

“Nothing, ma,” Betty said. “Tell the man how, when I was a baby, you had to give me the bottle every three hours.”

Britain's Socialism Experiment

By George E. Sokolsky

The Socialist experiment in Great Britain is a failure. It might be asked why Communism has succeeded in Soviet Russia—if success is measured by the production of goods and the rise in the standard of living—and yet Socialism in Great Britain has failed in four years.

Many answers can be offered tentatively. No one is so smart that he can without doubt explain a great historical situation while it is still in the process of developing. Yet I shall try my hand at it tentatively.

In the first place, Russia, in 1917, was not a capitalist country. Only in a few areas had the Industrial Revolution made any impression on a feudal or even a pre-feudal economy. Even so, Lenin encountered difficulties. For a time he abandoned Socialism, establishing the new economic policy (NEP) which gave him a breathing spell. After Lenin's death, Stalin established not only an economic but a political and social dictatorship which reduced the people to slavery to the state. Any form of Socialism requires an elimination of human liberty.

In Great Britain, it has been necessary to recede from Capitalism to Socialism without limiting human freedom. Therefore, the government cannot enforce its will in a free society. Labor performs as it chooses. No British authority dares to impose such a speed-up as Stakhanovism represents in Russia. And no government in England dares to call a strike a counter-revolution and it cannot kill strikers. Furthermore, the British have no way of exporting goods to such an extent as the Russians did in the 1920's from the Ukraine, permitting millions of human beings to starve to death.

Further, Russia in 1917 had so low a standard of living, in some areas even nomadic, that any rise is phenomenal. Great Britain in 1938 was on a very high standard of living from which it has been steadily receding, during the war because of it, since the war, by Socialist austerity. Therefore the average Russian is actually better off under Stalin, whereas the average Britisher is worse off under Socialism.

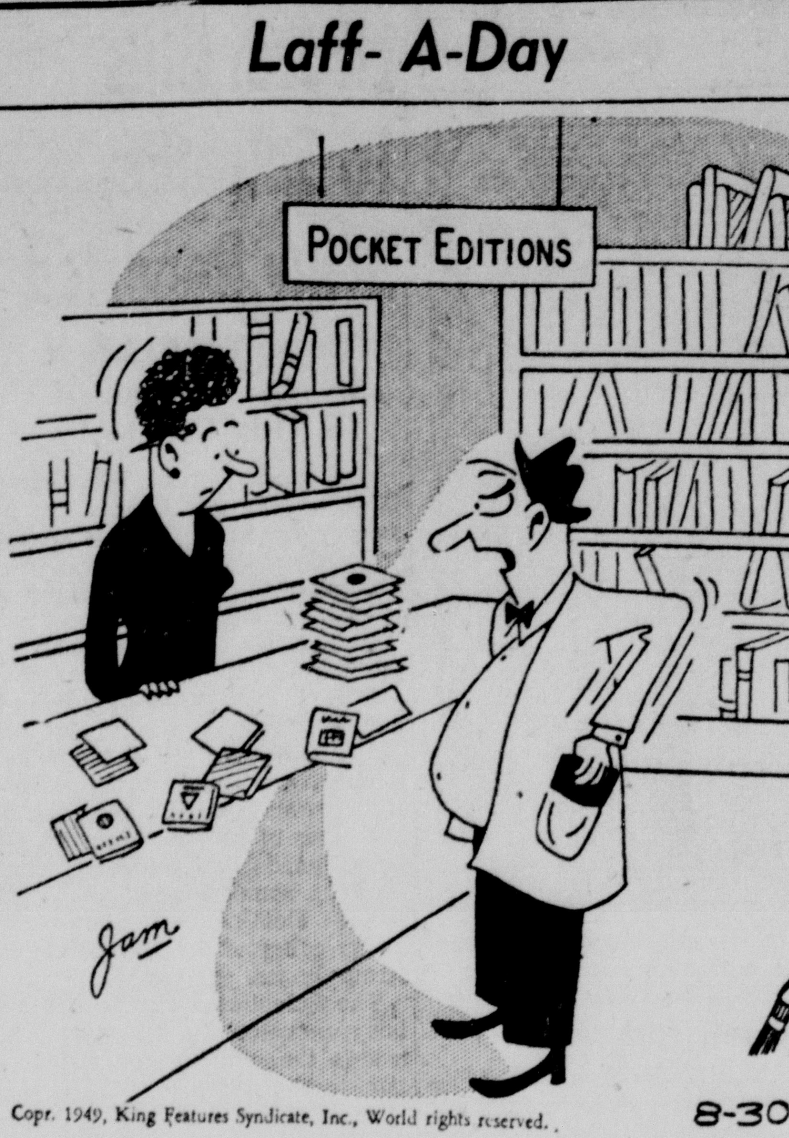

Soviet Russia can live on herself. It is false to say that Russia is self-sufficient any more than the United States is self-sufficient. But such countries as the United States and Soviet Russia can manage to care for themselves under the most adverse conditions, for instance, during the war, the United States ran short of raw rubber but was able to produce synthetic rubber because of possessions of ample coal and petroleum; in fact, if this country had to use alcohol for the manufacture of synthetic rubber, it would have ample grain for that purpose. Russia can be in a similar situation with similar results if her industry is adequately developed.

Such countries as Great Britain and Japan must always be in difficulties because they have to import food products and raw materials, of which they possess too little. From the time of Queen Elizabeth to World War I, Great Britain solved that problem by a rising economic and political imperialism. This involved a worldwide export-import trade, always in Britain's favor. This made the pound sterling the safest money in the world and Great Britain the richest country. Two wars ended the economic empire and seriously weakened the political empire. The pound sterling lost its preeminence and the American dollar took its place.

The British can only obtain ample dollars to maintain their industries and their standard of living by two means: 1. To get the dollars from the United States for nothing (lend-lease, British loan, Marshall Plan); or 2. To export huge quantities of goods competitively priced. Both involve difficulties. Any give-away program must sooner or later reach an end. Psychologically, produces antagonisms between giver and taker, the giver feeling that he is being gypped; the taker, feeling that he is not being given enough. The export dumping operation involves a devaluation of currency which may be politically embarrassing in a free country. The British Socialists have resorted to barter which cannot work successfully unless a country has a monopoly of a much wanted commodity.

I would say that these comparisons explain somewhat the essential differences between the Russians and the British problems.

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THERE are almost as many causes of itching of the skin as there are people. We are all familiar with the type of itching due to outside sources, such as the bite of an insect or contact with an irritating substance, but not so many realize that itching may also be one of the manifestations of disease.

It is, for instance, very common among people suffering from liver disturbances, particularly in those who develop jaundice, the greenish-yellow discoloration of the skin which is so frequently seen in certain liver disorders. Itching may also occur in liver disease even though no jaundice is present.

Certain Groups
There is a certain group of people who seem to develop an itchy sensation of the skin very readily from a great variety of causes. In them, almost any type of excitement, as well as heat, cold, sunshine, and injury can bring on an attack of itching. Such people are thought to be oversensitive to a substance, called acetylcholine, which is released in the skin as a result of any of the causes mentioned above.

Allergy or oversensitivity is a frequent cause of itching of the skin. Sometimes, the reaction takes place in the outer layer of the skin. In other instances, the reaction is in the walls of the blood vessels of the deeper layers of the skin and may result in the formation of hives. In both types, the substances producing allergic reactions reach the skin through the blood stream and, in either instance, the itching may occur without any visible changes in the skin. Such preparations as benadryl and pyribenzamine, which are known as anti-histamine drugs, are useful in the treatment.

Another cause of itching skin is a disturbance of the circulation. This often happens in the legs when varicose veins are present.

Tumor growths, particularly of the stomach and bowel, also may cause generalized itching.

Lymph Glands
A disorder affecting the lymph glands and known as Hodgkin's disease may often be accompanied by very severe itching. In fact, the itching may be the first symptom of the disorder to appear.

Treatment of generalized itching depends, of course, to some extent on the cause. Sometimes the preparations which stimulate the circulation may be helpful.

In cases of itching skin without a rash, there is always need for a thorough study to determine the factor which may be responsible. Then the treatment which may be most effective in eliminating these causes may be utilized.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J. N.: What would cause bad odor of a child's breath?
Answer: There are several causes for a disagreeable odor to the breath. It might be that the child is constipated even though he has a bowel movement daily. It may be that he has a chronic infection of the teeth, tonsils or of the nasal sinuses. He should be examined by a nose and throat specialist to be sure that nothing is wrong in this respect.

Sorority Plans Organization Of New Chapters

The regular meeting of Beta Sigma Phi was held Monday evening at Eagles Hall. During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. John Rhoads, the new Household Digest, a complete book of recipes and household information, sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi, was distributed to the members for sale. Mrs. William Graham was elected chairman of the "Friendly Venture" committee, which will organize new chapters in our neighboring cities. Mrs. Harry Campbell gave an outline of the fall rushing schedule. A gift was presented to the chapter from Mr. Robert Bailey, secretary of the Eagles Lodge, for the chapter's cooperation in sponsoring a group of children to Gold Cliff Park for a picnic and swim party sponsored recently by the Eagles Lodge. The business meeting was brought to a close with plans for a rummage sale October 8th which will be held at the armory at 10 A. M.

The first part of the cultural program, "The Origin of Dress," was presented by Mrs. Charles Persick followed by Mrs. John Rhoads who presented a description and illustrations of costumes from prehistoric to modern ages. A round table discussion of these topics was led by Mrs. Roy Hagler to conclude the program.

Highly competitive bidding occurred during the White Elephant Sale of members vied for the various items presented at auction by Mrs. William Graham, who proved herself a very capable auctioneer.

The next regular meeting of Beta Sigma Phi will be held September 19th.

Abernethys To Be Honored At Dinner-Reception

The Westminster Guild of the First Presbyterian Church will sponsor a farewell party on Wednesday September 7 for the Abernethys, who will leave soon for Coshocton where Rev. Abernethy will take up the pastorate of the Presbyterian Church. A covered dish dinner will be held in the church basement at 6 P. M. for all members of the church. This will be followed with open house, in the rear of the church auditorium beginning at 8 P. M. The reception is open to the public, and will afford an opportunity for all friends of the Abernethys to visit with them before their departure for their new home on September 15. Mrs. Herbert Clickner, Guild president and general chairman has appointed the following committees to assist her in the arrangements: Publicity, Mr. Forest Tipton chairman, Mrs. Fathie Pearce and Mr. Perse Harlow; kitchen, Mrs. Stanley Scott chairman, with group five of the guild as her assistants; decoration, Mrs. Marguerite Powell, chairman; entertainment, Mrs. Russell Giebelhouse; social Mrs. Charles Hire, chairman, Mrs. M. Grove Davis and Mrs. Charles Reinke; reception, Mr. Paul Van Voorhis, chairman assisted by members of the session and their wives.

Baughns Celebrate Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Perl Baughn entertained at a dinner at their home near Bloomingburg in honor of their forty-second wedding anniversary.

The dining room was decorated with garden flowers and the table seating the guests for the delicious four course dinner was centered with a beautifully decorated cake which was a gift bearing the inscription "Perl and Stella 42."

Following the congenial dinner hour the afternoon was spent in informal visiting and expressions for the couple's continued happiness and good health.

Those included as guests at the pleasant event were: Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Grimm of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Baughn, son Alan of Waverly, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis of Sabina, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Baughn and daughter Shirley of the Jeffersonville Road.

Mr. Humphres Honored By Store Associates

Associates of the G. C. Murphy Company assembled at the home of the store manager Mr. W. W. Humphries on Saturday evening, after store hours, to remind him of his birthday anniversary which was planned and carried out as a complete surprise to him. The group presented him with a lovely gift and later Mrs. Humphries served sandwiches and coffee which was augmented with ice cream cookies nuts and mints furnished by the guests.

Mrs. Williams Hostess To Club Members

Mrs. Forest Williams was hostess to the Big Four Mysterious Fifteen Club at her home Monday evening for the regular monthly meeting.

Mrs. Richard Parks, president, presided over the business session during which the secretary and treasurer's reports were given by Mrs. Mac Smith. A monthly auction was held and was in charge of Mrs. Gerald Roberts, which added a nice sum to the club treasury. The members brought food, clothing and household articles which will be given to a needy family in this city. A new member, Mrs. Loren C. Johnson, was welcomed into the club and the meeting was turned over to the hostess who provided contests as entertainment. Prizes in these were awarded to Mrs. Mac Smith and Mrs. Lloyd Alexander. During the social hour tempting refreshments were served by Mrs. Williams.

Mrs. Lloyd Alexander will be hostess to the members at the September meeting.

Fire Escapes Put Up at Eastside

WORKERS WELD STEPS on new fire escape, going up at Eastside School while a painter brushes up rough spots. Four escapes are being built at Eastside.

Four new fire escapes for Eastside School were scheduled for completion early this week, according to officials of Artercraft Ornamental Iron Company of Columbus, contractors for the job. The Columbus firm bid $1,290.

Sgt. Chas. Minshall Again Transferred

(Special to the Record-Herald) With The First United States Army Corps in Tokyo, Japan, Sgt. 1st Class Charles Minshall Jr. of Washington C. H. serving with the 58th Signal Battalion in Kyoto, Japan has been transferred to the 35th Station Hospital also in Kyoto.

The men of his organization are engaged in operating one of the most modern and best equipped army hospitals in Japan. Duties cover a wide field ranging from maintenance of an efficient communication system within the hospital, and the operation of a complete post exchange for troops stationed with the unit, to highly technical duties in the surgical sections and the wards. This hospital boasts many comforts of home, with a library, and a small theater in which movies and stage shows are presented regularly.

Sergeant Minshall entered the army in March 1941 at Fort Hays, Kansas, and after completing infantry basic training at Camp Wolters, Texas, he attended the Cook and Baker's School. Then in 1942 he was assigned to a military police unit in Arizona as Mess Sergeant and one year later he was again enrolled in the school. During 1944 he started his overseas tour of duty and served with the 202nd General Hospital in the European, African, Middle Eastern theater throughout the war. Upon his re-enlistment he was assigned to Percy Jones General Hospital for three years prior to starting his second overseas tour of duty, this time in Japan in May 1949. He has been serving with the 58th Signal Battalion since his arrival in Japan.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Minshall of Washington C. H.

to erect the steel fire escapes but Dana Hyer, who has charge of building for the city school system, said the total price of the escapes would run in the neighborhood of $1,500.

Construction of the escapes was ordered by the Washington C. H. Board of Education after an inspection of city schools by an official connected with the State Building Department.

Montgomery County Fair Opens Labor Day

Offering larger purses in racing and a greater array of premium awards, the Montgomery County Fair, set for Sept. 5th, (Labor Day), 6th, 7th, 8th, four days and four nights, will outclass all its predecessors.

Ralph C. Haines, secretary, has announced that racing purses have been increased from $500 to $800 in all cases except one. In that instance, a free-for-all mixed pace and trot dangles $1,000 in the faces of its drivers as reward for winning. There will be racing every afternoon and evening during the four days, except Tuesday night, when the entire evening will be given over to entertainment.

A triple feature is scheduled for Tuesday evening, Sept. 6th, consisting of a concert by a combined mass county school band of 500 pieces; a parade of prize winning livestock and farm machinery; also a full amusement program.

A special new feature will be cash awards for the best wedding cake exhibit. If the Fair board can induce a couple to marry during the Fair on the grounds, the prize winning cake will be theirs. Pies, cakes and other provisions will be amply displayed.

While the Fair opens regularly on Labor Day, the coliseum will be open on Sunday afternoon free as commercial exhibits are expected to be in place by that time. The balance of the exhibits, however, will be barred to the public until Monday, Labor Day, when the Fair opens officially.

complained strongly to A. B. Murray, former superintendent of schools, about what they thought were unsafe conditions at the Eastside School.

The new escapes are set on concrete footers one foot square and 18 inches deep.

There are hand rails on the outside of the escapes. The escapes are located on the west side of the building and two of them extend 18 feet up to the second floor.

More Tests Added To TB Mobile Unit

J. Paul Strevey, executive secretary of the Fayette County TB and Health Association, said the county may get the benefit of a unique experiment being tried by the Ohio Department of Health.

The experiment was held in Ashland County during a routine visit of the mobile X-ray unit last week.

For the first time diabetes and anemia were added to the TB examinations.

Strevey said if the experiment is satisfactory the tests may be added when the mobile unit visits Fayette County next time.

The blood sugar test for diabetes and nemoglobin count for anemia were made of persons over 40 in Ashland County.

A "finger tip blood" test was made for these examinations according to Dr. Keith Frankhauser, of the Ohio Department of Health.

"Such a combination of tests has been a subject of speculation by the U. S. Public Health Service," Dr. Frankhauser said.

"The success of the idea was overwhelming. Technicians made 1316 tests for persons over 40 during a three-week period, and hundreds of others were turned away because there was not time to do more," he added.

Results of the tests will be tabulated by the Ohio Department of Health laboratories and will be sent to the family physicians of those tested. This will require about a month.

Indication of diabetes or anemia in the routine tests will not be a conclusive diagnosis, Dr. Frankhauser pointed out. "In such cases, the family physician will advise the person to come in for other tests which are necessary for a complete diagnosis," he said.

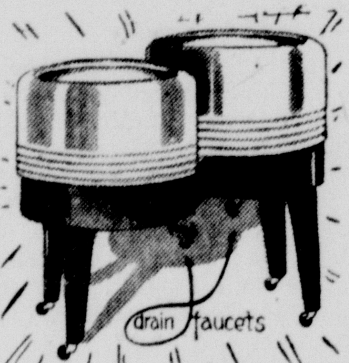

Mrs. Roosevelt Knew Youths Were Commies

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said today she knew for a long time the American Youth Congress followed the Communist line but worked with it just the same.

Her purpose in doing so, she wrote in McCall's magazine, was to change the organization's course.

The former first lady said the experience "was of infinite value to me in understanding some of the tactics I have had to grapple with in the United Nations."

Mrs. Roosevelt's article was fourth installment of a new series of memories.

Universal and Heinz Win; NCR, VFW Are Eliminated

The first teams to be eliminated from the softball tournament held Monday night at Wilson Field as Universal knocked out NCR, 5-0, and Heinz outslammed VFW, 22 to 11.

Carroll Steele took the mound for Universal in the curtain-raiser and limited the NCR club to two hits.

Universal broke the ice with two runs in the first and one more in the second to lead, 3-0.

They nipped every NCR rally and added two more runs in the fifth to make it 5 to 0, while keeping the cash register empty for NCR.

Neither team tallied in the remaining innings and it was a shutout victory for Steele.

G. Shaw came through in grand style at the plate, garnering three for three, including a homerun.

Brother E. Shaw got two hits and Kimball slammed a double as the three of them accounted for all six Universal safeties.

Donohue and Woods swatted the only two hits credited to NCR. The defeat dropped NCR out of the tourney. Their first loss was to Armbrust by an 8 to 1 margin.

Universal comes up against the Welding School in Wednesday's opener.

The nightcap was a wild and woolly affair.

It looked like the Fourth of July with the softball raining like a comet to every field, too hot to be handled by human players. A total of nine errors and 24 hits were run up.

Heinz started their merry-go-round with ten runs in the first inning. That's right, ten runs.

VFW showed that they could do the same thing and they came back with their carousel and six runs in the second.

But Heinz added four more in the second and the mere run had lost its value, just like the dollar. One isn't enough, you need a lot.

Heinz piled on three more and the score at the end of the third innings was 17 to 6. But the boys weren't tired yet.

VFW scored four times in the fourth and Heinz got two. VFW got another in the fifth and it was 19 to 11. Heinz got the ten-run margin needed to end the game when they scored three in the fifth to finish the slaughter.

R. Kelley and Holloway hit homers for their respective teams. Mongold, Colwell and Rush clouted triples and Heinz and Walters got doubles. R. Kelley led the batters with three hits.

And so VFW is out of the tourney, having lost to DP&L, 3-0, for the first loss.

Heinz will have a tough game Wednesday when they tangle with the loser of tonight's Hughey-DP&L game.

British Cabinet Works on Crisis

LONDON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee's labor cabinet has approved a 15,000-word plan for dealing with Britain's economic crisis.

Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer, and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin will take the plan to Washington this week for talks with U. S. and Canadian leaders on the dollar problem.

Just what specific steps Britain will propose for joint action in bolstering her sagging economy remained secret. It was not disclosed whether the cabinet made any substantial changes in the plan as drafted by treasury. Board of Trade and foreign office experts.

Indianapolis Easy Winner

Louisville Is Pasted For 10 Hits

(By the Associated Press) Indianapolis pasted Louisville for 19 hits and a 16-to-2 victory last night to advance to within 3½ games of league leading St. Paul. The Saints were idle.

In last night's other American Association games, last-place Toledo upset Columbus twice, 5 to 1 and 9 to 2.

The Indians scored six runs in the fifth to chase both starter Jack Robinson and Ewald Pyle. They continued by scoring at least once in each of the remaining innings.

Toledo scored four runs in the eighth inning of the opener with Columbus to break a 1-1 tie. In the nightcap, four of Toledo's nine hits were homers by Bob Mavis, Tony Lupien, Austin Knickerbocker and Manager Eddie Mayo.

Tonight's schedule: Milwaukee at Minneapolis (two games)

Kansas City at St. Paul Toledo at Louisville Indianapolis at Columbus.

Indians Elbowing Way Toward First Place

By JACK HAND (By the Associated Press) Bob Feller's "comeback" and Cleveland's extra-inning magic are keeping the Indians in the American League race.

Just when New York and Boston seemed set for a private stretch drive, the Indians elbowed in by snatching three straight from the Red Sox.

Bert Shively, stepped the distance in 2:07 3-5 in the second heat. Larry Chief, owned by Earl Richards, Sabina, won the first heat in 2:11.

Under a new system inaugurated this year, only two heats will be run. If the same pacer - or trotter does not win both heats, the horse posting the best time for one heat will be declared the winner.

Snappy Kate, owned by Frank Junk and Sons of Washington, C. H., won the 2:13 trot in the second heat. True Minne, owned by John Byerly of London, won the first heat, but couldn't match Snappy Kate's time.

Joanis, owned by the Idle Hour Stable of Marion, won the free-for-all pace with a length and a half victory in the second heat. Adjuster, racing under the colors of J. C. Neely of Canton, and the Belain and Johnson Stable of Berholtz, annexed the second heat.

Tom Boy, owned by R. H. Brandt, of Logan, won the second heat of the 2:28 trot, but lost out to the first heat winner, Fayvola.

"IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD"

The tribe's success in thumping Boston in 13 of 19 starts could be the making of a second straight pennant. However, it also could pave the way to the flag for the Yankees.

Casey Stengel's men, shaken by the loss of Tommy Henrich, took new heart in the double Boston loss yesterday. The idle Yanks, in Kansas City for an exhibition, saw their lead mount to four full games. Cleveland is five and a half back.

Feller, now winner of 13 engineered the first Cleveland victory, 5-2. After the Indians tagged Earl Johnson for two runs in the first inning, Feller drove home a third in the second frame.

The tribe's amazing extra-inning skill enabled them to pull the second out of the loss column, 5-4, in 10 innings. Ted Williams' 35th homer with one on broke a 2-2 tie in the seventh but Cleveland tied the score in the ninth and nudged Joe Dobson for the decisive run in the tenth. It was the Indians' 16th overtime win in 17 games, four over Boston.

Mike Tresh, reserve catcher who had not batted in a run all season, drove home the big score with a left field single. The Indians had men on second and third with two out when Manager Joe McCarthy ordered Dobson to pitch to Tresh.

After Tresh singled home the winning run, the Sox didn't have much to say.

It was Al Benton's win on relief, the second important victory for the Detroit discard in three days. Detroit won its eighth straight by defeating Philadelphia, 4-3, in 10 innings. Pat Mullin's single broke up the ball game, giving reliever Hal White his first decision.

Dick Kokos singled with the bases loaded in the ninth for the St. Louis Browns' 2-1 edge over Washington. Cliff Fannin was the winner over Mickey Harris.

Those St. Louis Cardinals came up with a big seven-run seventh inning at Boston, trouncing the Braves, 8-2, to protect their two and a half game lead over Brooklyn in the National.

Ron Northey clubbed a grand slam homer off Bill Voiselle in the big inning as Al Brazle posted his 14th victory.

Brooklyn's Jack Banta matched

Brazle's six-hitter as he went the route for the first time in his brief major league career, downing Pittsburgh, 5-1.

Pee Wee Reese and Jackie Robinson homered off reliever Harry Gumbert in the eighth.

Larry Jansen earned win no. 15 for New York as the Giants climbed back even with the .500 mark by shading Cincinnati's Ken Raffensberger, 3-2. Hank Thompson's seventh inning homer was the margin of victory.

Homers by Stan Lopata and Andy Seminick in the eighth inning enabled the Phillies to top Chicago, 6-5, in a night game. Reliever Blix Donnelly was the winner over Bob Muncie.

SYNOPSIS
Finding herself suddenly broke, young, beautiful, socially prominent Terry Austin flies from Guatemala to New York bent on making a brilliant marriage. No one knows that Terry's vast family fortune had been swept away in a Central American political lasso. To one except her old school girl friend, Helen Lannis, now happily married and living in New York, Helen stands by secretly, staunchly. Things begin to happen for Terry when she and Helen visit the Johnsons in Connecticut. Here Terry sets her cap for him. Confident that she has made a conquest, Terry is delighted when later on back in New York Chris 'phones her for a date. A whirlwind courtship ensues.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

CHRIS was an essentially gay and casual young man. He had fallen in and out of love a dozen times, never from the initial moment believing that it would endure. After this fashion he had fallen in love, during an April weekend, but it had endured and would. Terry was everything of which he had ever dreamed, this girl with the soot-black hair and eyes of no determined color.

He said, "I didn't mean to tell you so soon. But then, you don't have to be told. I love you, Terry. I've been in love with you since that day at the Johnsons— that evening, perhaps, when we walked on the terrace. Is there any possible chance that you could love me, too?"

She said, "I do love you, Chris," on a great breath of utter thankfulness and put her arms around him and lifted her mouth to his. She thought, closing her eyes, We will be lucky too, as Frank and Helen are—And then she ceased to think.

A little later he asked her, "When will you marry me? Must we wait, darling?" She answered, hardly knowing that she spoke, "Of course, we needn't wait. I'll marry you whenever you say, Chris."

She heard him shout as a boy shouts, with astonishment, with triumph. His eyes blazed blue, incredulous. He asked, his arm hard about her, "Do you know what you're saying?"

"I think so. I'm not awfully sure. Let me go," she insisted, "just for a moment, so I can think properly."

She sat away from him a little and put distracted hands to her hair. She said, "But how about you? Your family, I mean. They'll want to come on... We can be married here. I'm sure that Helen will want that."

"My parents are dead," he told her, "surely I told you that? As for the rest, they'll be there for the rest," he shrugged, "they'll be annoyed, some of them, but I don't suppose it will really matter beyond family vanity. And they're scattered all over the Islands, anyway. But you," he asked, "there must be people—"

"I have no relatives," she told him, "except what is left of my mother's family and I've never known them. Couldn't we be married here?" Then she asked quietly, "Just Helen and Frank, and those of your friends you wish?"

"The Johnsons?" he asked. "We owe them a great deal. Are you sure you want it this way? Most girls wouldn't. They'd want the trimmings."

She said slowly, "I used to believe I did too—white dress, long train and veil, and flowers and a church crowded with people. And myself going up the aisle with my father. But since he died I've never thought about it. I wouldn't want it that way now."

He said, "It shall be as you want, darling." He caught her to him and held her. "I'm so idiotically happy, I'm not sane."

"Me, too," she said unsteadily. He released her long enough to fish in his pocket. "Just in case," he said, "I brought it along. I hope you like it, Terry, it was my mother's."

It was a simple ring, with an old-fashioned setting and a very fine diamond. He put it on her finger and it shone there like a star, like sunlight on water.

She said, "I'd rather have it than anything else in the world." After a long time, she asked, "Will we be going to the Islands?"

"Of course, if you want to, Terry."

"I've always wanted to. Are they wonderful, are they magical?"

"All changed since the war," he said, "or so I hear. Of course the little island hasn't, very much. It's somewhat like Niihau, which has been in the possession of the Robinsons since about 1864, but not of course as well known nor as legendary, yet almost as hard to crash if you're an outsider—and, like Niihau, privately owned. Not that any of the family is there much. The older generations were, but now, as I said, we're scattered—Honolulu, Kauai, the big island."

She asked, "We'll live there, Chris?"

He said again, "If you like. We'll fly out and see. It will be up to you, darling. I haven't thought of settling down, until now—I've been too restless."

She put out her hand and touched his cheek. "Not now," she said confidentially, "not any more."

"Not any more," he repeated, and took her in his arms.

When Helen and Frank came home they drew apart and rose and Helen without words put her arms around Terry and Frank pounded Chris on the back and everyone talked at once. And presently Helen disappeared into the pantry and came back with cheese, crackers and a bottle of champagne. "Our last," she said, "sacrificed in a worthy cause."

"A meager feast," complained Frank, eyeing it. "How about going out? I'll shout."

"He means he'll treat," said his wife. "He picked up some very Down Under expressions in Africa."

POLIO VICTIM Frank Wynn, 8, is taken off the hospital ship Comfort on a stretcher after arrival of the Army vessel in New York City from Germany. The boy's father, Lt. Col. William J. Young Doctor Is Dead Of Disease He Fought DETROIT, Aug. 30—(AP)—A young Pompeii, Mich., doctor is dead of polio—the disease he had fought so vigilantly when it spread through his adopted state.

Death came to Dr. Karl Jones Jr., 27, at 5:30 A. M. He had entered Henry Ford Hospital nine days before.

The young physician went to Pompeii in reply to an advertisement placed by the widow of Dr. B. C. Hall who had died recently.

Dr. Jones came to Michigan from Tulsa, Okla. He graduated from Northwestern University and first practiced in Fowlerville, Mich.

Hatchet Burying Proposal Is Up

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) has disclosed a direct move by President Truman to settle the differences between his Democratic advisers on farm programs.

Thomas, chairman of the Senate agriculture committee, said yesterday that the president has invited "quite a group of us down to the White House Wednesday to talk over farm legislation."

The Oklahoman, who has been plugging publicly for another year of the rigid, high-level price supports already voted by the House, said he hopes the president says exactly what he wants for next year's farm program.

"I'll certainly support it," he said. "It would be silly to do anything else because he certainly would veto it."

The administration is behind a plan offered by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan to remove market price supports for perishable farm products and let farmers collect subsidies from the treasury if prices to consumers drop too low.

Peach Pickle Syrup Was Used in Shampoo

MCLEAN, Tex., Aug. 30—(AP)—Mrs. J. W. Story's freshly shampooed hair stood up straight.

She rewashed it—with more rain water, more shampoo and another vinegar rinse.

Another starched coiffure! Mrs.

Story reread the shampoo directions. She had followed them.

She tested the water—okay; the shampoo—okay; the vinegar—it turned out to be peach pickle syrup.

Mrs. Story headed for the nearest beauty parlor.

Two Men Sentenced To Workhouse

Luther Martin, 50, Columbus, on a drunk and disorderly charge, drew $25 and costs and 30 days in the Dayton Workhouse when he was arraigned before Police Court Justice R. H. Sites, Tuesday.

Clyde Fisher, 37, who has quite a police court record, also drew $25 and costs for being drunk and was given 90 days in the workhouse.

Police Chief Vaiden Long was to take the pair to the workhouse Tuesday afternoon.

Driver Is Fined In Police Court

Quentin Bruney Jones, 23, Greenfield, who outran the police after the officers had attained a maximum speed of 82 miles in chasing him toward Greenfield Friday night, was let off with a fine of $50 and costs in police court here.

Jones was arrested by Greenfield police who were notified by telephone to pick him up. He had eluded the police here, ran through two red lights, violated the city traffic ordinance as to speed, and then made his mad dash to Greenfield.

Esther Marting Wins With Hereford Heifer

Esther Marting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Marting, won the 4-H Club championship at the State Fair with her Hereford heifer with which she had won honors in the 4-H Club at the Fayette County Fair.

The heifer was first in the junior yearling class.

Johnny Melvin and Erce! Knedler, Jr., won a B with their Hereford heifers.

In the 4-H swine showmanship, Charles Dray was second.

Worker from Here Electrocuted In West Virginia

HEMPHILL, W. Va., Aug. 30.—(P)—Elsworth Leroy Williams, 35-year-old construction worker of Washington C. H. was accidentally electrocuted Monday.

City Health Officer J. E. Davis said Williams, and employee of the Ogle Construction Company, contacted 11,000 volts of electricity while engaged in work for his company at the Semetsov Company's Hemphill Mine.

Mr. Williams was a son of Mrs. Grace Orihood, 5th Street, Washington C. H., and had moved to Columbus Grove where he was planning to open a garage.

In addition to his mother he is survived by his widow, at Columbus Grove, three children, Jack, James and Mary Joretta and a brother, Ralph of Woodville.

His body will reach this city on the B. & O. Railroad Tuesday night, and will be taken to the Parrett Funeral Home. Funeral plans are incomplete.

Co. M Members Parade In Downpour

Members of Company M, Ohio National Guard, are getting along in fine shape, even though its members had to parade in the rain Saturday before a reviewing stand at Camp Atterbury, Ind.

This was reported today by Mrs. Darrell Williams, who along with her sons and a few friends, visited Camp Atterbury over the weekend.

She said the boys were kept occupied and reported that there were no cases of sickness or injury among any of the Company M members.

There are more than 70 men and three officers from here who are taking part in the two-week summer camp. They are scheduled to return to Washington C. H. Sept. 4.

SPEAKING OF Furniture

By WENDELL BRIGGS

BLEND THOSE STYLES!

As furniture dealers we are often asked how to mix styles and periods. They can be mixed, of course, but it takes an understanding of different designs to blend them and obtain a harmonious room.

Hepplewhite and Sheraton, for example, go well with certain Chippendale pieces as well as with Louis XVI and with some Duncan Phyfe. English Regency blends with Sheraton, Hepplewhite, Chinese, Chippendale and Duncan Phyfe.

Mixing styles and periods gives you greater freedom and variety; also a greater chance to express our personality and create the kind of home you desire.

Just remember that styles which are similar in scale, line and texture go well together. The woods need not be identical. To mix well. Light woods and dark often achieve very pleasing contrasts.

Illustrated above is a dining room furnished with a Duncan Phyfe table, Chippendale chairs and a Sheraton buffet... note how well they blend into a beautiful combination.

We would enjoy discussing your furniture problem with you. Drop in to...

Band Practice Start Called

Tryouts Wednesday For Majorettes

Autumn and football are in the air here once more.

And that means the crack WHS band, as well as the football squad, will have to get down to the business of preparing for the weekly fall sports extravaganzas.

Final tryouts for the majorettes have been called for Wednesday at 10 A. M. at the high school.

At 6:30 P. M. that same day, the band is to assemble for its first preliminary drill at Gardner Park. William B. Clift, Jr., the bandmaster who issued the calls for the majorette tryouts and the band practice, said there are two places to be filled in the ranks of the majorettes, and 18 places in the marching band.

The vacancies were created by the graduation of two majorettes, Cynthia Gage and Mary Lou Toops, both four-year veterans, and the 18 seniors in the band that made such a name for itself this past season highlighted by trips to Cleveland and New York.

No Replacement Problem

Clift said he was not especially worried about finding the replacements.

About a dozen girls, he said, have been working for the majorette posts while coming up through the elementary schools. But, he said, "they must be good... we're placing a little more emphasis on this part of the band."

Replacements for the band will come from the junior band, Clift said.

It was with a view toward keeping a steady flow of material coming on that the junior band was established several years ago. It took time to build it up, the bandmaster admitted, but he is convinced it is paying dividends now.

The junior band is made up of boys and girls in the elementary schools, from the fourth grade up through junior high school's seventh and eighth grades. Some, he said, are a bit young and small when they start, but the experience gives them a good chance to make the band often by the time they reach junior high school. Incidentally, there are several junior high students in the band—there have been for several years.

No Cut In Size

The band this year is to be the same size as the one that wound up its activities with the performance at the Fair here in July. It had 102 pieces, including the drum major and 10 majorettes.

Clift said keeping the band up to that size was no problem because of the prestige it has built up. The problem, he added, was keeping it within limits for practical purposes. For, Clift explained, he has a policy of leaving the way to the band open to every boy and girl willing to work hard and meet the scholastic requirements. Places are even made for those who are unable to buy their own instruments—no lines are drawn.

The Old Home Town

County Youth Wins Honors At State Fair

Max Bloomer, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bloomer, returned from the Ohio State Fair Monday with two championships in a 4-H club sheep exhibition.

Bloomer, a member of the Marion Wool-Tyers 4-H club, won the championship titles with the best ewe lamb and best ewe ram in the competition.

He exhibited Corriedale sheep, one of his specialties. He previously won other honors at the Fayette County Fair and the Ross County Fair.

Max was selected the outstanding 4-H club youth in Fayette County in 1948. His advisor is Willard Bitzer.

Presentation of the awards at the Ohio State Fair were made by J. F. Walker of Gambier, nationally-known Corriedale sheep breeder.

Services Held For George W. Cornell

Services for George W. Cornell were held 2 P. M. Monday with Rev. Allan W. Caley in charge. Rev. Caley, pastor of Grace

Methodist Church, read the Scriptures and offered prayers.

He also delivered the sermon and read the hymn, "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me."

The services were largely attended and the flowers were cared for by the pallbearers Freddy Beck, Jr., Donald Wright, Lewis and Jack Honel, Harvey Brown, Sr., and Lyle Moore.

Burial was made in the family lot in Washington Cemetery.
